In order to comply with your decision we must all buy XP machines to replace our existing machines. Microsoft is not making their software C# and P# which they say will replace Java Platform independant. So your decision creates a ready made new market form your pet company. This is now a truly terrifying state of affairs. You not only approved of their monopolistic practices you failed in your oversight and made them mor of monopoly than they were before. Mr. McNealy was right about you guys. This is truly disgusting....Gene
